GENESIS

Genesis is not only the first Bible book, but also the longest, covering a period of over 2,000 years. Hence it contains many foundational Bible stories including Creation, the Fall of Man, and those involving Father Abraham and four generations of his founding family. It is also the first book of the Pentateuch, the five first books of the Bible, all written by Moses.

EXODUS | 02 OT

Exodus is the second book of the Pentateuch (the five first books of the Bible), all written by Moses. However, it is the one most commonly sought to find information about both Moses and the Exodus, covering most well-known Bible stories, save his death (which is in Deuteronomy). The story of the Ten Plagues, while separated out for easier reference, can be viewed and studied as one story.

LEVITICUS | 03 OT

Leviticus comes from the word “Levi,” and is essentially rules to be followed. As all priests were designated to come from the tribe of Levi, it is a most appropriate name. It directs the new nation in right living with explicit examples that govern the Law of Love pronounced in the New Testament. The Levitical Laws are an outline for a strict and much-needed boot camp. People are returning to the Book of Leviticus in modern times, having realized that many rules covered health concerns and still provide the excellent solutions. However, there are no famous stories in the pages.

NUMBERS | 04 OT

Numbers is an oft-misunderstood book among Christians, and therefore is often overlooked. Following Leviticus, with a name that implies more rules, it actually contains quite a few great stories, which are packed in records. Numbers begins where Exodus ends, with the journeys of Israel through the wilderness. The reading can be quite engaging if the reader keeps in mind that the Hebrews were extremely accurate record keepers, both of numbers and of events. It is proof that they can be trusted to present an Old Testament that is reliable.

DEUTERONOMY | 05 OT

Deuteronomy contains speeches and instructions that may seem redundant to all spoken throughout the Pentateuch. However, it serves as a record to show how God and Moses strived to emphasize the need for loyalty and sticking to the law. The future of these people bears out how easy it was for them to stray and to reveal that neither God nor Moses was over-speaking. Numbers ended with Israel in Moab, where the Jordan River flows into the Dead Sea. The entire Book of Deuteronomy takes place there. Moses gives his farewell address and encourages the army to stay God-centered after crossing the Jordan. The book is most known in Christian circles for its exclusive coverage of the death of Moses.

JUDGES | 07 OT

The book picks up where Joshua leaves off, and follows through the history of Israel's 15 judges over 350 years. It is hard to conceive how quickly the nation got into trouble with unfaithfulness to God. The book is basically a cycle of betrayals and repentances. Some good judges were featured in special stories, as indicated below.

RUTH | 08 OT

Ruth is one story and should be approached as such. It's a great tale about putting faith first when honor is at stake, but so is one's entire future. Ruth was from Moab, a seedy place that had taunted Israel since the Exodus. Ruth chose staying with her mother-in-law and relocating to Bethlehem over a pagan lifestyle in her home country after both became widows. God's reward was the gift of incredible joy, as Ruth became the great-grandmother of King David.

1 KINGS | 11 OT

King David's death and King Solomon's ascent to the throne are covered in this book, followed by the division of the kingdom after its first 100 years. The book contains the famous stories of the prophet Elijah and his psychological battles with King Ahab. Ahab's pagan terrorist wife Jezebel plays a central role.

Both Books of Kings cover the history of kings in Judah as well as Israel, using a back-and-forth, chronological style. So while the kings' names are listed below, their kingdoms are not; however it is very clear in the books themselves.

2 KINGS | 12 OT

The remaining history of the kings plays out. Elijah becomes the second person taken up to heaven without suffering death, and then Elisha takes over as the greatest prophet. It is a very dark period, as all God predicted about kings being unfaithful, greedy, and selfish has come to pass. The only means to get the people to repent is through dual smack-downs: both kingdoms fall to invaders; only Judah repents.

Both Books of Kings cover the history of kings in Judah as well as Israel, using a back-and-forth, chronological style. So while the kings' names are listed below, their kingdoms are not; however it is very clear in the books themselves.

1 CHRONICLES | 13 OT

While similar to 1 and 2 Kings, Chronicles was written after the Great Exile to Babylon had ended. Its focus is on the things on which God wanted the remnant and their descendants to do. It is a more priestly look at the history of Israel, beginning with Adam and ending with King Solomon's ascension to the throne. While compelling stories are included in the Chronicles, people most often read them in other books such as the Kings or Samuel. Hence, not many are not marked below.

EZRA | 15 OT

Ezra covers two periods, 60 years apart, both involving the rebuilding of the Temple in Jerusalem after the Great Exile ended. The first records the struggles to rebuild, kings who stood in support and those who didn't. The second part records how quickly the returning remnant had intermarried with the pagan cultures and means to repent. The text is one story, however it is not high on the list of well-known Bible stories. It is best approached as one story, though a long one.

NEHEMIAH | 16 OT

This book is often seen as the sister book to Ezra, despite the very different writing styles. It also covers the period after the return from the Babylonian exile. Nehemiah had still been in exile as Artaxerxes' cup-bearer when he hears of the Jerusalem wall's horrible condition. Inspired of the Spirit, he returns to execute its renovation and point out shortcomings among the people. This book is his account, the only book in the Old Testament written in first person. It is one story, though not often included in classic Bible story editions.

ESTHER | 17 OT

This story takes place following the end of the Great Exile, when the remnant of Judah was returning to Jerusalem. It takes place in Susa, which would be in modern-day Iran. A genocide is proposed of the Jews in Persia, and the king doesn't realize he's being entrapped by signing it. It's up to a Jewish Queen Esther to remedy the danger. All 10 chapters can be intriguing for adults; the ones in blue are deemed most appropriate for young readers.

JOB | 18 OT

The Book of Job may be the only Bible book written before Genesis. Some discussion therein dates it around the time of Abraham, after the Great Flood. It is a heartwarming book for those going through an intense period of trial and testing. Anyone can relate to Job, while also giving thanks that situations rarely reach the level of pain and suffering in which Job found himself. That all his property was restored two-fold, and he was given an equal number of children to those he lost, also brings hope to many in struggles.

PSALMS | 19 OT

The Psalms were initially five books, put together chronologically, for the creation of songs and to be put to musical instruments. Individual psalms were written as early as Moses' time, around 1450 BC. More were added through the time of David and Solomon around 1000 BC. Additions continued after the Babylonian captivity around 500 BC. That means the writing spanned nearly 1,000 years. There can be no breakdown of subject matter as the Psalms were written from the heart, not history, though the breakdown below is methodical:

PROVERBS | 20 OT

Proverbs is known for its short instructions for living an effective life on earth. It contains no stories or theology, as many other Old Testament books do. It simply states wisdom for all to enjoy and use.

Two strong principles emphasized in Proverbs include listening to those who have gone before us, such as parents, teachers, and older people in general. The other principle is having humility.

ECCLESIASTES | 21 OT

Written by King Solomon, the book shows him as wealthy, wise, and successful in all of his dealings, including building the first Temple for God. However, he shared an emptiness in Ecclesiastes that comes from not conversing with God enough to have a strong relationship with him. Solomon had already tried many things to ease his sense of feeling lost in the world—pleasure, work, and intelligence.

SONG OF SOLOMON | 22 OT

Few people study this text. Credibility is one problem. Written by King Solomon, it is hard to take words of love seriously from a king who married close to 1,000 women. Yet the book has a divine purpose. We live in a world where sexual relations have often been spoken of as dangerous and sinful. Much of the Bible speaks of the dangers of falling in love with the wrong person or becoming sexually engaged with the wrong person. Therefore, Solomon's poetry helps to balance out with reminders that romantic passion is a great thing.

ISAIAH | 23 OT

Isaiah prophesied under the reign of four Judean kings: Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah. He most likely met his death under a fifth, the evil King Manasseh. Many scholars believe the prophet referred to in Hebrews 11:37 is Isaiah. It says that one of the prophets was sawn in two.

The book is loaded with prophecy that closely matches the life of Jesus, and it has been used as a source of proof of his Messiahship.

JEREMIAH | 24 OT

Jeremiah was nearly 20 years old when he began to prophesy. He prophesied for the rest of his adult life of 40 years or more. He is one of the prophets who lived to see his greatest prophecies come to pass.

Jeremiah was prophesying to a nation behaving terribly, and judgment from God was on its way. The Kingdom of Judah had watched as the Kingdom of Israel was destroyed by the Assyrians. They feared the Babylonians, who would eventually overpower them and take them away.

LAMENTATIONS

OT

Lamentations is the only book written by a prophet that looks more backwards than forward. The Babylonian invasion of the southern kingdom (Kingdom of Judah) had just taken place in 586 BC. Jeremiah expressed raw emotion, as if he had just walked through the streets and alleys of Jerusalem and saw nothing but destruction and suffering and heartbreak.

Lamentations is not so much prophecy as it is a lament over what had become of Jerusalem after the invasion and how it all could have been avoided.

EZEKIEL | 26 OT

Ezekiel begins before the Babylonian invasion and exile. Ezekiel prophesies about it in the early chapters of the book. His warnings become so extreme: he even predicts that people will resort to cannibalism. But the people refused to listen.

Ezekiel then lived among the Jewish exiles in Babylon. He prophesied there for about 22 years.

Ezekiel gave his people hope. But he also prophesied about the end of times, and those prophesies included Israel becoming a nation again after years of wandering the earth. That came true in 1948.

DANIEL | 27 OT

Daniel was still a teenager when he was deported to Babylon with many others in the Great Exile. Babylon was extremely polytheistic, worshipping many gods, but Daniel only wanted to worship the God of Israel. His faithfulness, wisdom, and education enabled King Nebuchadnezzar to say that the God of Israel is God.

The first six chapters are history, and include Daniel in the lions' den; Daniel's friends in the fiery furnace; and the handwriting on the wall. In Chapter 7, the book makes a turn and becomes prophecy about the future. Daniel hears from the angel Gabriel, who announced that the exile will last 70 years. Daniel goes on to prophesy about our future, and things that have not taken place yet.

HOSEA | 28 OT

God told Hosea to marry a woman who would never be faithful, because the marriage is like God and Israel. Hosea obeyed God and married a woman who would not be faithful to him. He thus was able to prophesy with great passion about how God felt about all Israel's unfaithfulness.

The book contains warnings of the coming Assyrian invasion on the northern kingdom and the Babylonian invasion of the southern kingdom. The northern invasion was right around the corner, occurring in 722 BC. The invasion of the southern kingdom by the Babylonians, would happen 150 years later. Nobody listened to Hosea.

JOEL | 29 OT

The first challenge with the Book of Joel is trying to date it. The challenge comes through the fact that the prophet has very little to say about himself. Many of the prophets name the kings under which they were serving, but Joel does not.

Joel prophesied about destruction that could apply to the Babylonian invasion or the destruction of the temple in 70 AD, or other traumatic times for Israel. He also prophesied about the Day of the Lord (another name for the Second Coming of Christ), and therefore some of his prophecies remain futuristic.

AMOS | 30 OT

Amos was a shepherd. He lived with a group of shepherds in Tekoa, a small town 10 miles south of Jerusalem. He prophesied about 760 BC. Uzziah was king of Judah, and Jeroboam II was King of Israel. He was born in Judah but prophesied in Israel. He predicted the overthrow of the Kingdom of Israel by the Assyrians, which happened in 722 BC.

He also predicted the doom of Judah and the doom of many surrounding nations

OBADIAH | 31 OT

The shortest book in the Old Testament; exclusively a prophecy toward another nation—Edom.

Obadiah is one of only three prophets who pronounced judgment primarily on other nations. Nahum pronounced judgment on Nineveh, and Habakkuk on multiple nations surrounding struggling Judah. Edom was a small nation, playing “sidekick” to large bullies such as the Philistines and Arabians who invaded Judah. Their cruelty is duly noted in the prophecy, as is the fact that they are arrogant and hypocritical, a small nation themselves.

MICAH | 33 OT

Micah prophesied at the same time as Isaiah and Hosea. He prophesied during the tragic and historic years surrounding the Assyrian invasion of the Northern Kingdom. Micah predicted the event in Micah 1:6, and it came to pass between 10 and 15 years later, in 722 BC.

Micah's earlier prophecies concern judgment on the kingdoms of Israel and Judah for idolatry. His later prophecies concern the future kingdom that Jesus spoke of.

NAHUM | 34 OT

The book focuses almost exclusively on God's pending judgment against Nineveh, capital of Assyria. Assyria was very strong at the time of Nahum's prophecy. And 40-some years after Nahum prophesied the complete destruction of the city of Nineveh, its Assyrian army took Jews from the northern kingdom into exile. It looked like a very victorious time for the Assyrians. The 10 tribes of Israel that made up the northern kingdom completely disappeared into these and other foreign peoples.

However, God was good to his word brought through Nahum. The Median army took Nineveh in 612 BC and destroyed it forever. It was finally excavated - dug out of the sand - in the 1800s AD.

HABAKKUK

OT

Habakkuk cried out to God during a very dark time in Israel. Habakkuk likely prophesied in the first five years of King Jehoiakim's reign. This king led the people into evil. The Assyrians had control of the northern kingdom (Kingdom of Israel) after a brutal invasion more than 100 years earlier. Habakkuk preached from the southern kingdom (Kingdom of Judah), which was still intact, but less than 50 years away from its own invasion by Babylon that destroyed the Temple. The pressure was on.

HAGGAI | 37 OT

Haggai is known as one of the few prophets to whom the people of Israel actually listened. Haggai wrote from Jerusalem, when many people had returned from the Babylonian exile. Those who had returned in hope 15 years earlier were now facing dire struggles. They lacked clothing and food and had been mocked by other nations brutally about rebuilding their temple. The mocking had drained them of faith so that they had quit.

ZECHARIAH | 38 OT

This book contains the most references to the coming of the Messiah of any minor prophets. We often look for a chronological order when reading Bible prophecy, and that's one of the things that can make it confusing. Zechariah does things like refer to Jesus' first coming in Zechariah 9:9 which references Palm Sunday. Then in the very next verses, he refers to the Second Coming. Zechariah's prophecies cover the entire story God is telling in his Word, and the details can seem spread out to us, but not to God.

The Book is divided into two parts, covering an earlier and later passage in Zechariah's life.

MALACHI | 39 OT

By the time of Malachi, the people of Judah had been back in Judah after the Babylonian exile for more than 100 years. They were looking for blessings. The Temple had been rebuilt. However, there was corruption in the priesthood and the people had become spiritually disinterested.

God showed the people through Malachi where they were falling short and in danger of hurting themselves and others again.
